

Leadership programme for Early Years Educators gets underway

Educators from four of Preparing for Life's partner early years settings began leadership training on the 29th September 2015. The programme is made up of group sessions and individual mentoring, led by Preparing for life Early Years Programmes Manager Emma Byrne Mac Namee. The programme provides an introduction to basic theory and concepts of leadership in the early years.

Participants, including setting managers, educators in senior roles or team leaders attend Preparing for Life's planning and assessing training in parallel. Action plans written during group leadership sessions, which embed and sustain quality practice from the planning and assessing strand, are developed and implemented with support From Emma.

The two introductory sessions provide a taster for formal continuing professional development workshops (CPD) planned for 2016. The workshops will be delivered in partnership with Trinity College Dublin.
